CLASSES

In Cooking, students get to make their favorite dishes and learn a few new ones.

This month students continued learning how to fry safely; they made mini corndogs, onion rings and fried chicken tenders.

They also made spam musubis for the Softball team to take with them on their field trip.

CLASSES

In Fashion, students have been working on their outfits for their Fashion Show they'll be walking in during our Q4 Hoike. They even made matching scrunchies.

Esports is not just about having fun, but more about learning critical thinking, problem solving, communication and sportsmanship. Students continue to compete with one another on their favorite games.

CLASSES

Photography has been out exploring our beautiful campus capturing different flowers in the natural sunlight.

After editing their photos, our students are able to print them and add them to their scrapbook to keep the memories forever.

CLASSES

In Softball students have been practicing daily to get ready for their upcoming games. Students learned their positions and practiced their batting.

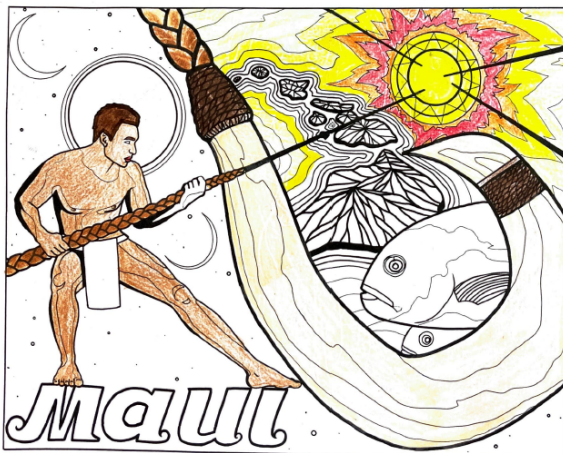

HAWAIIAN VALUE OF THE WEEK

This month for Hawaiian Value of the Week, our students learned about Me'e (Hero) and how they can use their skills to be someone's hero. They also learned about Kahua (Foundation) and the importance of having values to keep them focused and grounded throughout life.

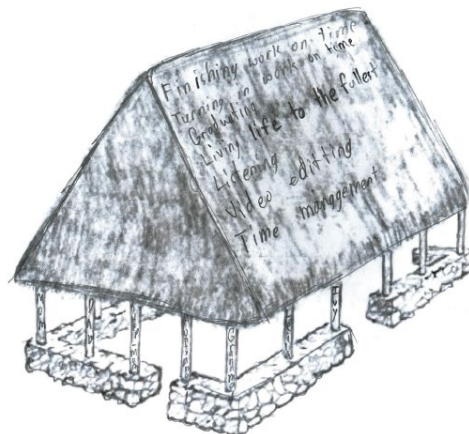

There are Legends of Maui all over the Pacific Ocean. Many people can relate to these stories because Maui was able to do things that many other people did not feel they were capable of doing. Many hero stories you read about or hear from others talk not only detail the person's amazing feats, but also about the challenges and trials that they faced. Many of those trials are similar to one we face. Yet, the hero in the story was able to overcome the challenge, making them awesome in our eyes. What type of things do you do that people think are amazing? What skills do you have that people always ask you to share or perform? List them on the lines below. You just might be a hero in their eyes!

- Sacrifice
- Hula
- Make Friends
- Taking Care of
- Operating up
- Schoolwork
- Make people laugh
- my siblings
- Art
- Homework
- Helping people out
- Singing
- Whistle

Take a close look at this picture of a Hawaiian Hale. Pay special attention to the rocks surrounding each of the poles. These pōhaku (stones) ensured that the poles remained upright for the structure. This week's 'Ōlelo No'eau tells us "O ke kahua mamua, mahope ke kākulu." The foundation first, then the building. Each of us has a foundation of values and beliefs that we live by, that help guide us when we make choices for ourselves. Utilize the next few line to list some of the values and beliefs that you hold onto that make you the person that you are.

- Family, Kumau, Friends
- Loyalty, Generosity
- Equality
- Integrity, Compassion, Resilience, Hawaiian Culture, Aloha

LIFE SERVICE ACTION

Our students started prepping their Teacher Appreciation posters and gifts for the month. They are very excited to show their appreciation to their teachers and school staff.

We had the privilege to welcome the incoming 7th graders from Nānāikapono Elementary School for a tour of our campus.

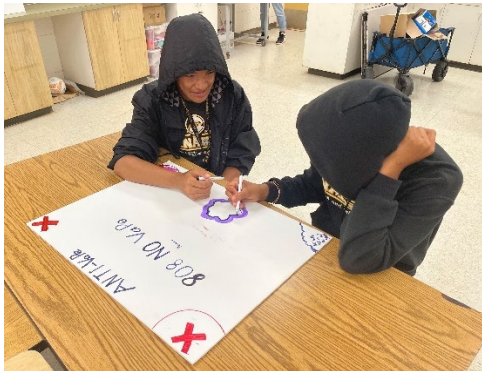

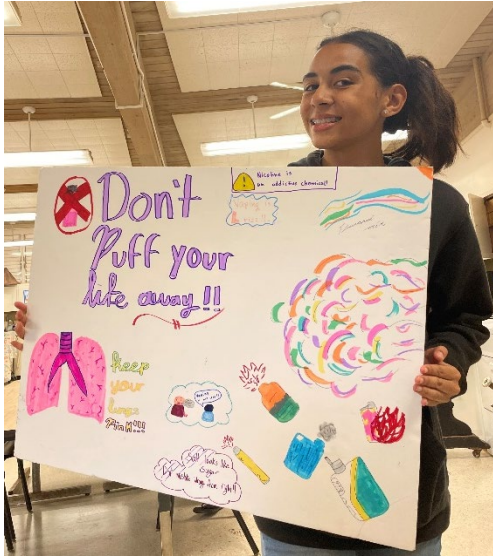

The incoming 7th graders were greeted with ASAS Swag Bags containing the Friendship bracelets our current ASAS students made for them.

ADVISORY BOARD MEETING

Nanakuli ASAS held their last Advisory Board Meeting of the year this month. We met with our Yabbies, parents, teachers, counselors and our Vice Principal to discuss program highlights, challenges, classes and goals. We were able to come together to create ideas to elevate our program even more. Mahalo to our Board members and we'll see you next school year!
