Hawaiian Value: Ho'olohe - Listen

We paired our Hawaiian Value of the Week, Ho'olohe, or listen, with a game of Horse n' Jockey, or musical bodies. Students had to not only listen to the rules of the game, but listen for the music to stop. Ho'olohe was shown best when the music stopped and Program Leaders said freeze; which added a great twist to the game.

Guest Speaker – Officer Sampaga

Officer Dustin Sampaga visited program to speak with our students. As the officer stationed on campus, we like to make sure our students get to know him, as well as learn what work he does on and off campus. He lets the students meet and get to know him as an officer and as a person. We are excited for him to come back and speak with the students again for an Vape Prevention presentation.
